

Stanley V. Anderson Collection Processing Notes

By Matthew Peek (August 16, 2010)

Original Arrangement of Collection

The Stanley V. Anderson Collection was originally a collection of materials on ombudsmen and their causes from around the world, collected by Political Science Professor Stanley V. Anderson at the University of California, Santa Barbara. The collection was given to the Office of the Ombudsman at UCSB in 1982 and returned to the Political Science Department in 2003, where it was housed in the Emeriti office. Following Professor Anderson's death, the collection was boxed and shipped to the Dayton Ombudsman's Office in 2009.

The collection was originally organized by a variety of categories (such as country, title, author, and several other headings), but due in part to the various changes in location, it was not in perfect order. In addition, two boxes were damaged during shipping and repacked by the shipper in no order at all. As a result, considerable organizing and sorting was required before the collection could be processed.

The great majority of records are journal articles, and they were arranged in alphabetical order by last name of the author or first proper word in the journal articles' title. Other series are readily visible in the collection, such as legislation and miscellaneous government records, as well as theses and dissertations.
